INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

The present issue of the Annual will speak for itself as to the liberality and vigor that mark the many branches of Christian work carried on by St. Mark's Parish. Thanks to the noble men and women who render such service. I cannot specify names; the list would be too long; while it would be difficult to discriminate, so many have done bravely. We maintain our reputation as a working Parish. Some attractions St. Mark's may lack, but this "note of a true church" it has, very conspicuously.

The magnificent Memorial Chapel and Schools, built and thoroughly equipped by Rutherford Stuyvesant, Esq., has enabled us to enlarge our Mission Work, which entails, of course, increased cost. At least $5,000 a year will be required for maintaining the work. For this, the Committee of Management appointed by the Vestry will look to the parishioners. Nor will they look in vain, I venture to hope.

Annual Report.

The Missionary Society of St. Mark's Church must by this time be sufficiently well known to the Parish to render any setting forth of its object and aims quite unnecessary. As each year the season of work returns, however, we feel the need of more help, both personal and pecuniary. Our present report shows no falling off, but neither have we been able to do as much as we had hoped to do.

The Society acknowledges, with thanks, the subscriptions and donations received during the past year.

Report of the Minister of the Chapel.

The old Mission Chapel is now replaced by a large and superb building of early English architecture, occupying the site of the former building, and the corner lot, the gift of Mr. Rutherford Stuyvesant. The new edifice consists of a chapel with a seating accommodation for 500 persons, attached to which is a parish building, with large Sunday-schools, a Library and Reading-room, Day-school rooms, offices for the clergy, four large rooms and a kitchen for a Day nursery, sexton's rooms, and other accommodations, all supplied with every facility for work. The Chapel proper has not yet been opened, but since the last of September, services have been held regularly in the Sunday-school room, with a large congregation especially composed of young people. Daily Prayers are said to the Parish School, which meets from 9 to 3 o'clock. The Library is open every evening from 7 to 10, and Sunday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock. A Literary Society, which includes about 400 members, meets on Monday evenings, and a second one for younger persons is being formed to meet on Tuesday evenings. Thursday evening is occupied by a "Mothers' Meeting," with an average attendance of 40 women. Friday evening, throughout the year, there is a short service of singing and brief addresses, which is largely attended. The Sunday-school meets at 9 o'clock, with a muster roll, at present, of 900 children. We trust that, when the Chapel is open for service, and the other projected enterprises connected with the building begun, there will be even a better evidence of success. There seems to me no limit to the good which may be accomplished in this work, as we are surrounded by a teeming population, and can fill our various rooms for work with our growing attendance. The aim which has been pursued, has been to make the building a benefit to young and old on week days as well as Sundays, and the varied nature of the work carried on, has given us in this a large success. We may indeed say with thankfulness, that God has greatly blessed the work done here, and we may look forward to a future of the greatest usefulness.

BROCKHOLST MORGAN.

The Day School.

Meets from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M., in the Memorial Chapel. The school at every session is opened with Morning Prayer by the Minister of the Chapel.

One hundred and ten children are on the book; 45 boys and 65 girls, from 4 to 13 years of age. During the year there has been very little sickness and not one death. The annual Easter festival was given by Mr. R. Stuyvesant, to which Mrs. Pierrepont sent flowers. The following donations are acknowledged with thanks: Mrs. Hamilton Fish, $5. for prizes; 3 pairs of shoes and 1 pair rubber boots from Mrs. W. B. Toucey; 12 towels from Mrs. Mallet; clothing from Mrs. Hamilton Fish, Jr.

Mr. Rutherford Stuyvesant gave an excursion on the Sound to Island Wild, to all the scholars and their parents, besides sending a large number into the country in mid-summer. This largely accounts for the health of the school.

MISS HELEN BEACH, 226 Second Avenue.

During 1883, the Loan Relief Association has expanded from a small society of seven members, with few workers, little money, and great demands for both money and work, into a strong association, with five Committees, 41 interested workers, and a well founded hope of ample funds to carry out its plans.

The new constitution divides the work into five departments, each member being required to give personal service in at least one of those departments.

The first committee takes under its charge the care and training of children. Its members visit the day school, and have provided clothing for the most needy of the children.

The members of committee number two, on employment of men and women, have secured work for various applicants.

The third committee, on the care of the sick, aged and infirm, has done a great work among the suffering poor. There are four physicians in the society who have given untiring medical attendance to the sick, many of whom have been helped through months of weariness and pain, by gifts of money and food, and cheered by personal visits of Mr. Morgan and the ladies of the committee. The aged and those unable to work through infirmity, have received aid in money and clothing.

Committee number four, on Provident Schemes and Association, has endeavored to meet the needs of those to whom a timely loan would prevent pawning some needed article, or bridge over the the gap until work could be paid for.

Mothers' Meeetings are held every Thursday evening in one of the rooms of the new building. Two hours are pleasantly spent in sewing, and often the women are made to forget the darkness and drudgery of their everyday lives by music and readings. The women have been influenced to save money, even a few cents at a time being received, and they have laid up during the year $176.00, part of which has been paid out for them in coal.

The fifth committee, on Instruction and Amusement, has taken charge of the reading-room, which is admirably lighted, well ventilated, and the tables have been furnished with excellent reading matter by the zealous efforts of the members.

Some books are on the ample shelves but many more are needed. Nightly young men and women may be seen seated around the well filled tables, enjoying the wholesome atmosphere of elevating literature. A librarian has been selected and rules drawn up for the government of the room.

The Association returns thanks to Mrs. Rylance, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Sackett, Mrs. and Miss Remsen and Mrs. and Miss Beach for money contributed; to Mrs. Renwick, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Wallett, Mrs. Dr. Morris, Mrs. H. S. Bean, Mrs. Farrington, Misses Major, Misses Remsen, and "a friend" for gifts of clothing; and to Messrs. H. Fish, Jr., Wm. V. King, W. H. Russell, B. Morgan, M. A. Gilbert, C. Kross, W. B. Toucey and G. B. Toucey, Mrs. Sackett, Mrs. Fish and Mrs. H. Fish, Jr., for books, magazines and papers.

Respectfully submitted,

SARAH A. HAMILL,

Secretary.

Industrial School.

The school resumed work on November 10th, 1882. Held 22 meetings to April 27th, 1883, with 21 teachers and 196 scholars; 627 garments were distributed. At the date of this issue, the school is in vigorous being, under the Presidency of Mrs. Rylance, with a large staff of teachers.

Eclectic Literary Union.

This is a thriving Association, in which some four or five hundred young men and women are greatly interested, and which is daily adding to its numbers—a recognized centre of an important influence for the moral and mental elevation of this densely populated district of our city. Already has much good fruit been gathered from the work of this Association, while its promises for continuance in well-doing are most encouraging.
